Imagine a competition where you either get the cash... or you get smashed! In this fascinating shiny-floor show, the key to making it to the end and winning the jackpot is dodging the crushing power of money.

Two teams face off against each other in several rounds of multiple-choice questions. And the twist? The answers are spread out across a series of giant safes suspended in the air. To answer the question, team members have to stand under the safes that they think are correct. If they're right, they'll live to answer another question. If not... the safe will crush them and they'll be eliminated. The more team members that survive each round, the more chances the team has to reach the final round and compete for the grand prize. Will they win the money or will they get crushed?

A thrilling game show filled with tension that has already been adapted for different territories including Spain, Vietnam and Mexico.
