Call me when you get there

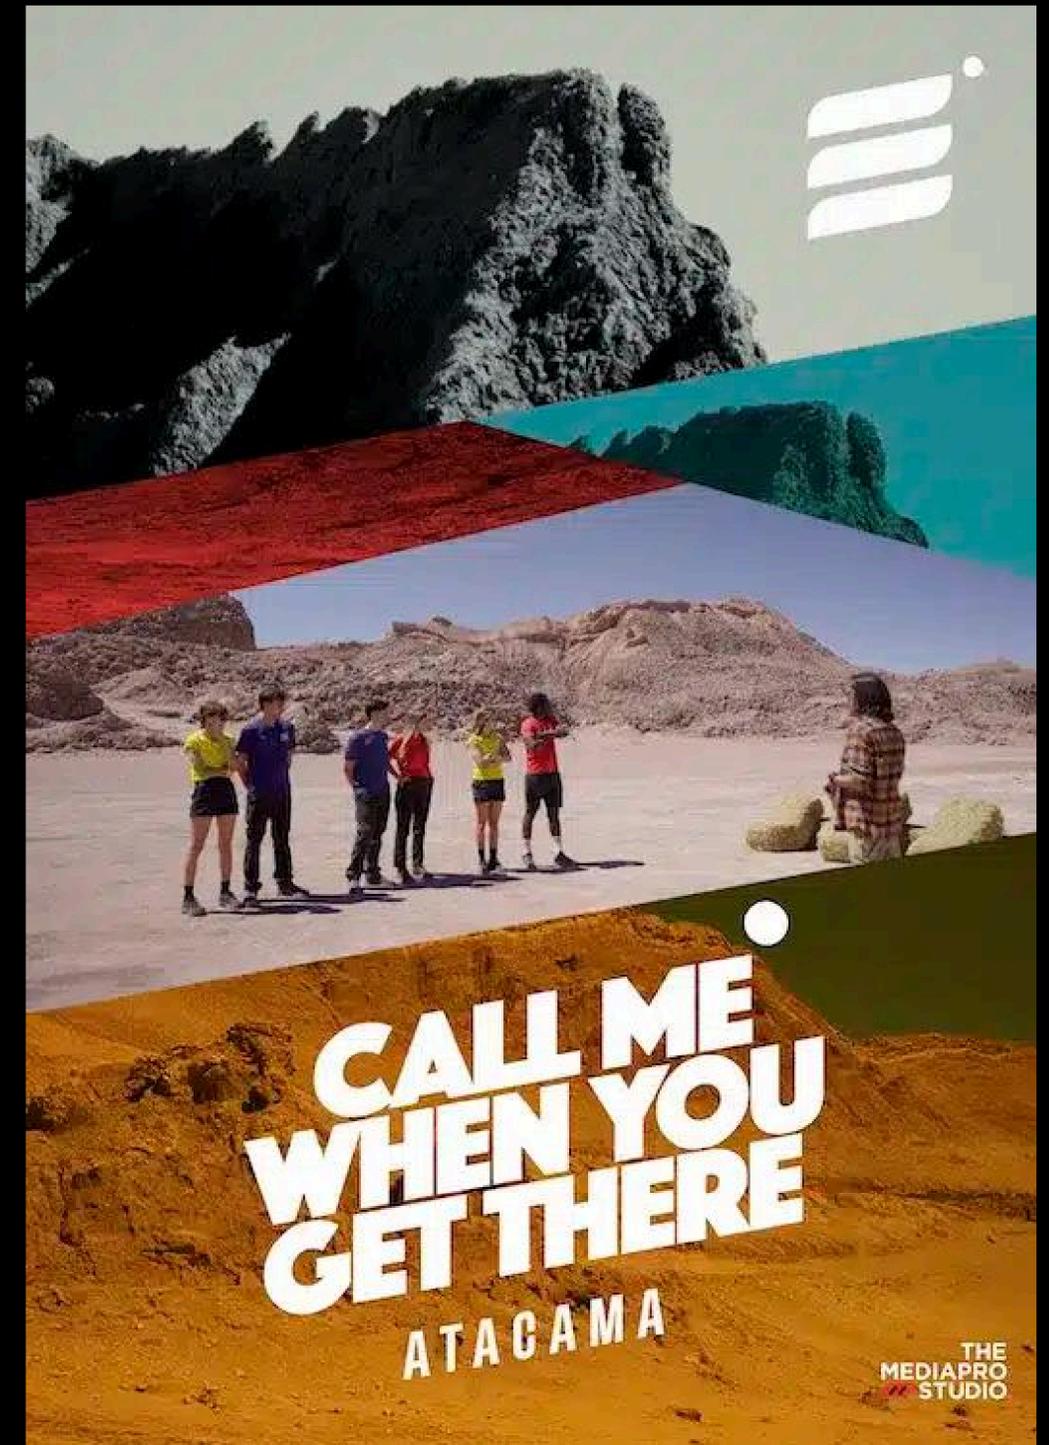

Producers: El Terrat (The Mediapro Studio)

Dive into the adventure reality show made for Generation Hashtag! In each season of this multiplatform show, a group of content creators travel to a different part of the world that's filled with natural wonders, such as the Atacama Desert, where they will compete in a series of fascinating action-packed challenges that will allow them to discover the customs and traditions of the area's inhabitants.

Unlike classic adventure shows like "The Amazing Race", this format is adapted to the digital era, including TikTokers as contestants and incorporating elements like meme challenges and trolling as part of the game. Because in this competition, anything that isn't strictly forbidden... is fair game! In the end, there will only be one winner: the best contestant, which doesn't necessarily mean the best person.

Don't just watch the adventure, live it... and, of course, post about it on Instagram!
