"Laguna Negra" is an elite and isolated boarding school where teachers, students and staff live together with all the greatness and miseries of a big family. However, things are not what they seem, and in the boarding school there are some hidden secrets: A mother is looking desperately for her son who was taken away from her. A boy builds an idyllic world to protect his sister from the pain caused by their parents' death. An impossible love story develops between the director and a cleaner. Students go on a series of investigations when one of their professors disappears and goes on a very dangerous adventure. Their digging ends up uncovering the existence of a pharmaceutical company (Ottox) with a dark past connected to human experiments. Suspense, intricate relationships and crime are the three principal element of this TV series.
