Las Bravas of Playa Angel is a division 2 female football team formed by girls full of passion and with a promising talent. The girls enjoy football, their studies and the beach when Roberto Casas, former world's best player, comes back to his birth town running from debt and scandal in Europe. Destiny turns Roberto into the team's new coach and this is how he discovers that one of the team's players is his daughter. Together with Las Bravas, his endearing friend Sebas and the rest of the village, Roberto will have to set his life straight, recover his passion for football and forge a relationship with his daughter while he turns her into one of Mexico's best players.
