Adapted from the best-selling book from Graham Norton.

When Carol Crottie discovers a long-dead body hidden in the basement of her home, the horrific realization is undeniable - she's living with a killer. The story that Robert's first wife, Joan, ran away never to be seen again now looks like a lie, and the fact he has perversely insisted on never selling the house suddenly makes sense. But one dark family secret is soon to be replaced by another...
