When Ava's uncle Karl invites her to Scandinavia to work at the Ice Castle he's just built to commemorate the Country's Centennial Christmas Ceremony, she couldn't be more thrilled. She leaves her boring 9-5 behind and sets off for a Guest Services job at the spectacular Ice Castle Hotel. The work is not glamorous but the hotel sure is. When the Royal Family arrives for their stay in the lead up to the Christmas Ball, Ava catches the eye of dashing Prince Henry. Both Ava and the prince are warned to stay away from each other, Ava is reminded that she should know her place as a member of the staff and Henry's parents pressure him into asking out snobby, entitled Astrid, who they believe is a more suitable fit for a prince. As the week goes on, Ava and Henry sneak off to spend more time together, their connection undeniable. Will interference from the frigid Royal Family keep them apart, or will Ava and Henry prove that true love can melt even the iciest heart?
